the tone for modern letters and diaries, and yet they also retained elements of earlier forms.) Each letter or diary is the result of how a particular writer modified or "bent" the conventions at hand. In this sense, the conventions might be likened to a script and each diary or letter to an actual performance.

Making Sense of Letters and Diaries

In transcribing the diary and letters, considerable difficulty was encountered in deciphering some of the words. The doctor was schooled in grammar and could write a beautiful hand, as shown in certain parts of some letters and in the addresses on the envelopes. However, as he
